I. Summary:

SB 528 exempts from public records copying and inspection requirements the name, mailing address, electronic mail address, and telephone number submitted to a property appraiser pursuant to the Title Fraud Prevention through Sales Contract Notification Services Pilot Program created by SB 526.

The bill provides a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution. In compliance with the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemption is repealed October 2, 2029, unless saved from repeal.

Because the bill creates a new public records exemption, it requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting in each house of the Legislature for final passage.

The bill is effective on the same date that SB 526 or other similar legislation takes effect.

II. Present Situation:

SB 526 creates the Title Fraud Prevention through Sales Contract Notification Services Pilot Program in Broward County. The program seeks to prevent real estate title fraud through use of a notification system whereby real estate professionals who have knowledge of an upcoming real estate transaction will notify the Broward County Property Appraiser. If the seller has registered for the clerk's notification service, the property appraiser will send the property owner a notice disclosing that a transaction is pending. An owner receiving notice who does not recognize the transaction, and thus is about to be a property fraud victim can possibly intervene and stop the transaction.

The notice from the real estate professional includes the following information: seller's name, mailing address, e-mail address, and phone number.

Access to Public Records - Generally

The Florida Constitution provides that the public has the right to inspect or copy records made or received in connection with official governmental business.¹ The right to inspect or copy applies to the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, including all three branches of state government, local governmental entities, and any person acting on behalf of the government.²

Additional requirements and exemptions related to public records are found in various statutes and rules, depending on the branch of government involved. For instance, s. 11.0431, F.S., provides public access requirements for legislative records. Relevant exemptions are codified in s. 11.0431(2)-(3), F.S., and adopted in the rules of each house of the Legislature.³ Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420 governs public access to judicial branch records.⁴ Lastly, ch. 119, F.S., known as the Public Records Act, provides requirements for public records held by executive branch and local government agencies.

Executive Agency Records – The Public Records Act

The Public Records Act provides that all state, county, and municipal records are open for personal inspection and copying by any person, and that providing access to public records is a duty of each agency.⁵

Section 119.011(12), F.S., defines “public records” to include:

[a]ll documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connection with the transaction of official business by any agency.

The Florida Supreme Court has interpreted this definition to encompass all materials made or received by an agency in connection with official business that are used to “perpetuate, communicate, or formalize knowledge of some type.”⁶

The Florida Statutes specify conditions under which public access to governmental records must be provided. The Public Records Act guarantees every person’s right to inspect and copy any

Section 119.011(2), F.S., defines “agency” as “any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency.”

public record at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record.⁷ A violation of the Public Records Act may result in civil or criminal liability.⁸

The Legislature may exempt public records from public access requirements by passing a general law by a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate.⁹ The exemption must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the exemption.¹⁰

General exemptions from the public records requirements are contained in the Public Records Act.¹¹ Specific exemptions often are placed in the substantive statutes relating to a particular agency or program.¹²

When creating a public records exemption, the Legislature may provide that a record is “exempt” or “confidential and exempt.” There is a difference between records the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and those which the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and confidential.¹³ Records designated as “confidential and exempt” are not subject to inspection by the public and may only be released under the circumstances defined by statute.¹⁴ Records designated as “exempt” may be released at the discretion of the records custodian under certain circumstances.¹⁵

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The provisions of s. 119.15, F.S., known as the Open Government Sunset Review Act¹⁶ (the Act), prescribe a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended¹⁷ public records or open meetings exemptions, with specified exceptions.¹⁸ The Act requires the repeal of such exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment; in order to save an exemption from repeal, the Legislature must reenact the exemption or repeal the sunset date.¹⁹ In practice, many exemptions are continued by repealing the sunset date, rather than reenacting the exemption.

¹⁷ An exemption is considered to be substantially amended if it is expanded to include more records or information or to include meetings as well as records. Section 119.15(4)(b), F.S.

The Act provides that a public records or open meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and is no broader than is necessary.²⁰ An exemption serves an identifiable purpose if the Legislature finds that the purpose of the exemption outweighs open government policy and cannot be accomplished without the exemption and it meets one of the following purposes:

- It allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a program, and administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;²¹
- It protects sensitive, personal information, the release of which would be defamatory, cause unwarranted damage to the good name or reputation of the individual, or would jeopardize the individual's safety. If this public purpose is cited as the basis of an exemption, however, only personal identifying information is exempt;²² or
- It protects information of a confidential nature concerning entities, such as trade or business secrets.²³

The Act also requires specified questions to be considered during the review process.²⁴ In examining an exemption, the Act directs the Legislature to question the purpose and necessity of reenacting the exemption.

If, in reenacting an exemption or repealing the sunset date, the exemption is expanded, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.²⁵ If the exemption is continued without substantive changes or if the exemption is continued and narrowed, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required. If the Legislature allows an exemption to expire, the previously exempt records will remain exempt unless otherwise provided by law.²⁶

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates a public records exemption to provide that the names, mailing addresses, e-mail addresses, and telephone numbers of sellers of real property that are submitted to the Broward County Property Appraiser pursuant to the Title Fraud Prevention Through Sales

- Whom does the exemption uniquely affect, as opposed to the general public?
- What is the identifiable public purpose or goal of the exemption?
- Can the information contained in the records or discussed in the meeting be readily obtained by alternative means? If so, how?
- Is the record or meeting protected by another exemption?
- Are there multiple exemptions for the same type of record or meeting that it would be appropriate to merge?

Contract Notification Service Pilot Program created by SB 526, are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

This exemption is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and is repealed on October 2, 2029, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2 provides the public necessity statement, as required by the State Constitution. The public necessity statement finds that it is a public necessity that the names, mailing addresses, e mail addresses, and telephone numbers of sellers of real property which are submitted to a property appraiser pursuant to the Title Fraud Prevention Through Sales Contract Notification Service Pilot Program created in s. 696.031, F.S., be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), F.S., and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution. The provisions of s. 696.031, F.S., are created to protect real property owners from fraud in real estate transactions by informing an owner that a contract for the sale or purchase of his or her real estate has been executed. Information required to be provided to the property appraiser pursuant to s. 696.031, F.S., is of a sensitive, personal nature, and disclosure of such information about a property seller is an invasion of that person's privacy. Making public the private information of a property seller could have a chilling effect on real property sales.

Section 3 provides that the bill is effective on the same date that SB 526 or other similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law. SB 526 takes effect July 1, 2024.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements. This bill enacts a new exemption for records pertaining to a title fraud prevention program; therefore, the bill requires a two-thirds vote of each chamber for enactment.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements to state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption. Section 2 of the bill contains a statement of public necessity for the exemption.

Breadth of Exemption

Article I, s. 24(c), of the State Constitution requires an exemption to the public records requirements to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. The purpose of the law is to encourage real property professionals to notify the property appraiser of an upcoming real estate closing so that the property appraiser can notify the owner. If the upcoming transaction is fraudulent, the owner may have time to stop it. This purpose may not be met if land owners are deterred from registration because their contact information would be made public, or if real estate professionals are deterred from registering their sales because information would be made public. The exemption does not appear to be broader than necessary to accomplish the purpose of the law.
